the Standard Oil Company, Rockefeller, Rogers and the rest of them, an ordinary, every-day receiver or assignee, just the same as is appointed for every-day people."

"He will take charge of the affairs, because they have on hand hundreds of millions of paper stuff they manufacture he will take charge of it because it cannot be sold back to the pay their debts. Kindly watch out whether I 'make good' on this or not."

"One Paper in the Home

Is worth a hundred on the highway" is the wise remark of Marshall Field, America's merchant prince, recently.

And that statement can be applied with great advantage to The Evening Bulletin. This is fully borne out by the fact, which the observer will notice, that Bulletins are not left on street cars, in restaurants, or in any public places. Bulletins are delivered at home or are taken home when they are read and where they bring returns. That's why The Bulletin carries the most advertising.
